Simona came to us when our second daughter was almost 8 weeks old. We had employed Simona when our first child was 8 weeks (see previous reference) and Simona transformed her from a baby that cried all the time and rarely slept to a child who slept very well, cried rarely and was in a good routine.

We therefore had no hesitation in employing Simona a second time, although our second child was not nearly as bad as we had used Simona's advice from the first time around to avoid making the same mistakes.

Once again Simona gave us excellent advice on getting Matilda into a routine and sorting out her sleep patterns, as a result of which Matilda is a happy and contented baby. While being firm about the routine and getting Matilda to sleep at the right times, she was brilliant with Matilda when she was awake, being loving and attentive.

She has a way of speaking to and interacting with babies which comes from years of experience and seems to keep them entertained (not easy with very small babies) and stops them from moaning and crying.

Having spent the 4 days she was with us watching this I have learnt some useful tips which I have used since Simona left. Simona also provided a wealth of advice in response to my endless questions, relating mostly to my baby but some of which related to my 2 year old.

Simona is very personable and is a pleasure to have around the house. In short, I would have absolutely no hesitation in recommending Simona. Suffice to say if my husband and I have a third child we would most certainly employ Simona for a third time.
